

The game is made up of a player and two blocks. The player can jump, move left, and move right. The player can jump while above the ground or blocks. The blocks can be landed on and are two different colors. Sometimes, the player gets stuck a little bit below the screen, and a jump will return the player to the screen completely, after which another jump will result in a successful jump.